11 IS SEASON'S DEATH TOLL ON FOOTBALL GRID

Victims Mostly Inexperienced Boys On Lesser Teams.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Football exacted a toll of 11 victims during the 1930 season which closed with Thanksgiving Day's game, according to reports to the Associated Press today. The number of deaths was five greater than in 1929 and one above the list of two years ago. The majority of youths killed this season were high school players who may have entered the game without sufficient physical training for so rough a sport and with only limited knowledge of the game. Defenders of the sport pointed to the fact that not a fatality occurred in the big universities of the country, where the game is conducted under expert physical direction and coaching. The development of the open style of play, instead of the smothering game of a dozen years ago and the improved, heavily padded uniforms and head gear, is eliminating much of the danger, according to football experts.

The Casualty List.
The list of victims:
Franklin Worrell, Omaha, Neb., 13 years old; died Oct. 20, of a fractured skull sustained in a "sandlot" game.

Edward Bohn, St. Louis, Mo., 22 years old; halfback with Missouri School of Mines; died Nov. 8 of fractured spine as a result of being tackled.

Jack Reeves, 23 years old; fullback with Kansas State Normal; died Nov. 27; paralyzed as a result of spinal injury.

Bernard Quigley, member of Hays, Kan., Normal freshmen team; died Nov. 7; chest was crushed.

Decatur Lad Victim.
Harry Harschberger, Decatur, Ill., 16 years old; died Nov. 18; injured three weeks previous in high school game.

Raymond Sillick, Wapello, Iowa, died Oct. 7 as a result of injuries in high school game.

Americus Middlebrooks, St. Louis, Mo., 21 years old; died Nov. 4 of broken neck received in high school game.

Meivin Keppler, Lockhaven, Pa., 17 years old; died Sept. 30; neck broken in high school game.

Nelson Lemanage, Pharr, Texas, 19 years old; died Oct. 31; injured in high school game.

Edwin Wolf, Michigan City, Ind.; died Nov. 3; injured in interclass game at Purdue university three weeks previous.

William Heine, Berkeley, Calif., 17 years old; died Nov. 8; injured in high school game three weeks previous.

GIANTS SIGN FRISCH.
New York, Nov. 27.—Frank Frisch, star third baseman of the New York National league team, has signed a 1931 contract, manager McGraw announced today. Frisch will be shifted to second base next season if Rapp, the infielder purchased by the Giants from St. Paul of the American association, makes good at third base.

Bulldogs Tamed At Last.
AKRON defeated the Canton Bulldogs, 7-0, for the second time this season, the first upset having terminated in a 10-0 score for the Rubber City Numbats. With the great Jim Thorpe unable to hold his own against the field any longer, the fall of Canton was inevitable.

Two decisive defeats over the Bulldogs have yielded Akron the world's championship without a claim of disapproval. Having previously defeated the Dayton Triangles, with whom they are scheduled tomorrow for a return game, the Numbats have a clear way to the title. The Triangles might excel in the use of the forward pass, but they can never compete with Akron's superior aggressiveness on the ground.

Looking over the results of the late season, the "Big Six" in the professional football field should be ranked as follows:
1. Akron.
2. Staleys.
3. Triangles.
4. Independents.
5. Canton.
6. Chicago Tigers.

The Staleys are accorded second honors chiefly because they went through the season without a defeat. This fact would serve to give them preference over the Dayton Triangles, who suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of Akron. Despite the handicap of injuries which has trailed the Independents throughout the season, the Rock Islanders have played more consistent good football than the Canton Bulldogs. The Chicago Tigers never could get started.

A Few Post-Mortems.
CERTAIN inequalities which cannot be begrudged literally made the Staleys the only undefeated professional eleven in the midwest field. The Starchworkers combined excellent physical condition with an almost perfect defense and a preponderance of favorable breaks.

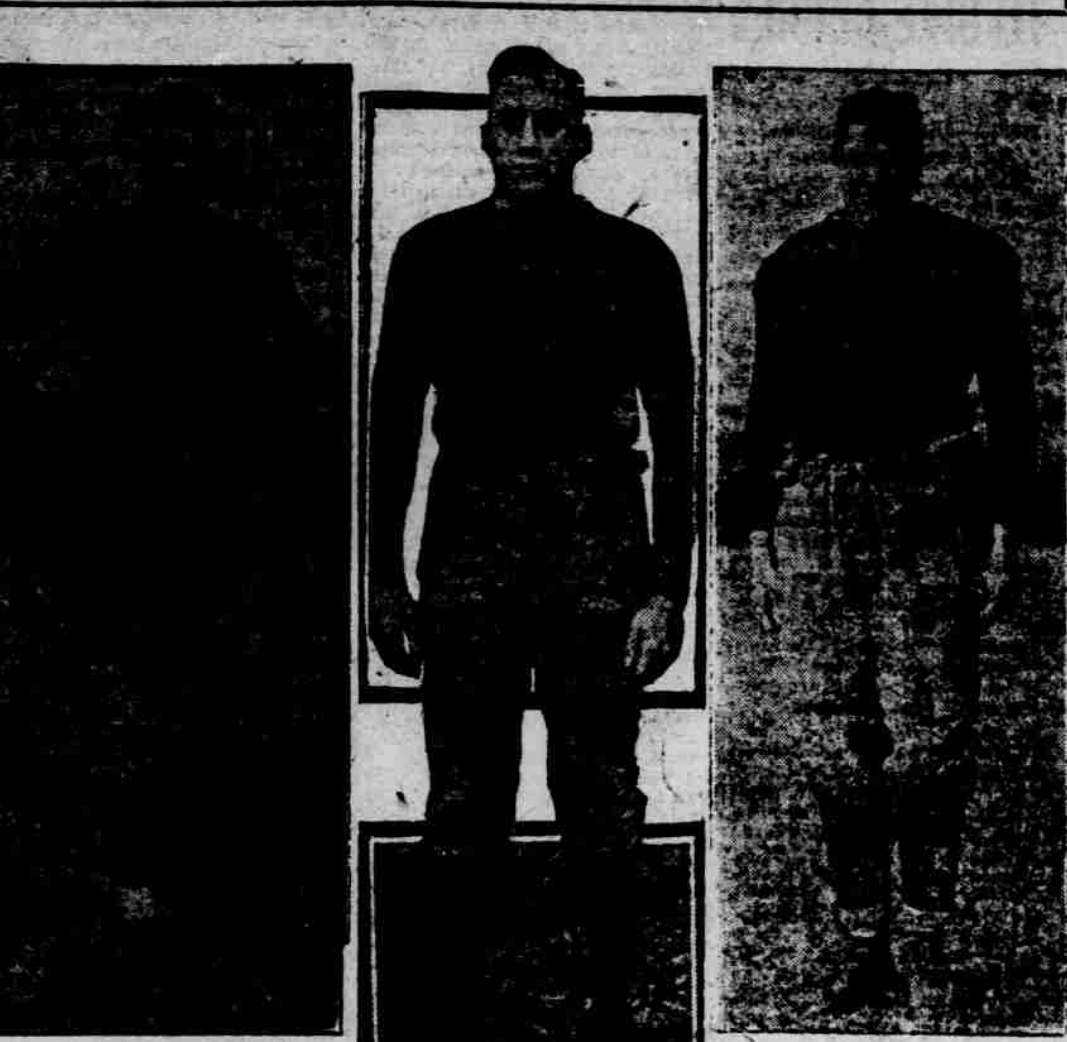

Dismissing the first Staley contest in Rock Island, the Decatur crew was extremely lucky to come out with a 0-0 score against the Independents. Had it not been that an unbroken chain of injuries to the Islanders' best player, the Staleys never could have withstood Rock Island's powerful ground attack.

The Staleys were a vastly improved machine when they played Rock Island the second time, and judging from the sorry remnants of the Independents, they should have won the return game by several touchdowns. Staley never could have defeated or even tied the Independents of 1929. There isn't a doubt in the world that the Islanders had the most powerful and successful scoring machine in the world.

Neither should the Dayton Triangles have romped away with a 21-0 victory because they proved so proficient with the forward pass. Every Islander played through that tangle with either damaged knees or ankles. Had a single one of them been able to travel at natural speed, the locals could have scored at least three touchdowns, the way they tore the Dayton defense to shreds in the second and third quarters.

Comparisons might be odious; nevertheless, interesting.

3 Big College Football Captains Oppose Islanders At Douglas Park

LENTZ, West Virginia. STEIN, Pittsburgh. GARGISCH, W. & J.

With the closing of the 1930 football season in the tri-cities, the indoor sport of choosing the annual tri-city teams is now in full tilt. Both Rock Island and Davenport teams were made up of first class players for high school teams and it is difficult to pick a mythical squad. Moline failed to produce a player of note, with the exception of Schmidt, who was the star of the "Swede" squad.

Rock Island, with the best team in years, captured the tri-city championship by its victories over Davenport and Moline in the middle of the season. Davenport established itself as the runner-up in the three-cornered race by the defeat of Moline on Thursday. This is the first time in 10 years that the Islanders have won the championship and more local men will be on the mythical all tri-city team than ever before.

Layden Honored.
To Captain Layden of the Davenport team is given the honor of quarter and captain of the first team. The Iowa flash is the best quarter ever developed at Davenport high. His absence in the Rock Island-Davenport battle was one of the reasons for the Islander victory. His swinging end runs and passes were the features of Davenport's playing all year, and he was the constant ground gain on the squad. He would be the punter of the squad, as he has averaged about fifty yards all year.

The halfback that stood head and shoulders above any of his competitors was Duncan, speedy Islander flash. Duncan was the star of the Islander squad and saved the crimson and gold eleven from defeat several times. His two touchdowns in the first minute of play in the Moline game, and his 32-yard run for a touchdown in the Rockford contest are examples of his work. He is also a fairly good punter, and could be used if Layden should be incapacitated. He never failed to get away for a long run of 40 or 50 yards in any game and was never caught in his tracks on running back a punt. The other half position is awarded to Schmidt for his all-around playing throughout the season. Schmidt can smash through the line as well as anyone in the tri-cities and can also run the ends as well. He was virtually the whole Moline team, being used at end, full, half and quarter during the season.

Masters, the Islanders' little plunger, is given fullback. Although small, he was very good at picking holes and wriggling through. Masters backed up the line well on defensive and for his all-around playing is given the place.

Doman Gets Center Call.
Doman is awarded center in preference to G. Koch of Davenport, on the strength of his defensive playing. On offense, they were about equal, but Doman's playing of the roving center was superior to Koch's.

Anderson of Rock Island and R. Koch of Davenport are given the guard positions because of general aggressiveness. These boys were pitted against each other in the Davenport game and each put up a good fight.

The tackle positions would be filled by Captain Henke of Rock Island and Krauski of Davenport. These boys outshone any other tri-city tackle, both on offense and defense. Henke also deserves mention, although lacking the experience of Henke and Krauski.

Good Ends Scores.
There was a dearth of good ends on all of the tri-city squads. Schmidt of Rock Island made the best showing of any throughout the season. He played his best work on the offensive, his defensive work being not so strong. Little, the other end, showed brilliancy, but was more dependable than his rivals. He never failed to open a hole and gains around his end were rare.

The players who were given places on the second team were only slightly inferior to those of the first selection. Most of them lacked experience. Many will be back next year and should be going strong.

Referee Terminates Battle After Welling Is No Longer Able to Defend Himself.
New York, Nov. 27.—Benny Leonard whipped Joe Welling last night. It took him a long time to do it—14 rounds. Welling was badly beaten and had been down five times, twice in the 13th and twice in the 14th, when the referee stopped it.

Leonard Makes 134.
Leonard and Welling made the stipulated weight at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Leonard weighed 134 pounds and Welling 135. The agreed weight was 135 pounds, in accordance with the New York state lightweight limit.

Owing to the interest among pugilistic fans regarding Leonard's ability to make the weight there was a large crowd in and about Madison Square garden when the lightweights stepped on the scales. Leonard surprised them when it was announced he was as low as 134. He looked fit for a hot fight.

At 9:40 the ring filled up with photographers and their equipment. Joe Humphreys bared his familiar bald head to the calcium lights to do the necessary announcing.

Humphreys passed the diamond belt that went to the winner of the main event around the newspaper bench. It sparkled brightly between the lights. It is said the belt cost $2,000.

Leonard came down the aisle wrapped in a long lavender bathrobe. Welling came in soon after, blond and serious looking, wearing a black and white robe.

Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, stood over Benny looking around without much apparent interest. Nate Lewis of Chicago, bald and bespectacled, who manages Welling, watched the gloves go on Leonard's hands, and one of Leonard's seconds presided over the same operation in Welling's corner.

Chaplin Is Introduced.
Charlie Chaplin, little and dapper, in dinner attire, was introduced from the ring by Humphreys, and got a big reception. He looked very bashful.

Leonard and Welling posed together for a flashlight picture and at 10:05 Dr. Muth, the timekeeping dentist, yanked the gong and they were on their way.

Leonard was first to lead. It was a left to the head, which Welling blocked. Leonard hit Welling in the stomach with a left and raised a red spot. The first round showed that both were feeling each other out. Some one remarked that Leonard looked a little drawn. It was his round.

They went to a clinch in the second round and Welling punched the champion in the face. Leonard punched back and skinned Joe's nose. Leonard began driving his left left for the body. He smiled as Joe hit him with a left. Leonard had a slight shade.

Welling Is Warned.
Leonard danced coming out for the third and hooked Joe with a vicious left to the jaw. The champion was now trying hard. Welling was painfully slow and growing excited. He tried to wrestle Leonard in a clinch and the referee pulled him away and warned him. Welling seemed much stronger than Benny in the clinches.

In the fourth Leonard slipped out and jabbed Welling three times on the nose.

New York, Nov. 27.—Frank Frisch, star third baseman of the New York National league team, has signed a 1931 contract, manager McGraw announced today. Frisch will be shifted to second base next season if Rapp, the infielder purchased by the Giants from St. Paul of the American association, makes good at third base.

Great Treat for Swedes.
The extensive Swedish population of the tri-cities will see in Half-Henke, Richardson of W. & J., one of the highest rated backfield men of the college season. With Harry Anderson playing center for the Independents, in opposition to Erickson, it should be a gala day for the Swedish-Americans of the tri-cities. In addition, the game offers several interesting comparisons which have already been defined.

A good deal depends upon the weather man to make this game the success it merits, although nothing but a steady downpour of rain is expected to dissuade the fans from witnessing such an unusual football game. Mild weather has been unprecedented.

At no time during the schedule has the temperature fallen below 40 degrees. With a little colder weather tonight it is likely to snow tomorrow in temperature is expected.

Coach Rube Urechia has perfect faith in his players. He believes in a valuable scoring machine against the collegians, devoting most of the last several days to instructing the new Islander backfield in the intricacies of Minnesota shift formations.

A good deal will be expected of Quarterback Devlin, former star performer with the Cleveland Indians and Canton Bulldogs, and who has always enjoyed the distinction of being a tri-city football hero. Mark will run the team against the collegians.

Right Novak and Tom Henry are to start as halfbacks. Novak has been the best ground-gaining halfback in professional ranks this season. Henry was the star backfielder for the St. Louis university. Tom closed his college career last week and will remain in Rock Island indefinitely. It might be of interest to know that he has rejoined the Argus editorial staff and will be on his new duties Monday.

Watch "Sullivan."
Speculation is rife concerning the possibility of "Sullivan," who performed as fullback for the Independents, being loaned to the Argus. The utmost secrecy was maintained before this all-star football player would consent to play with the Independents tomorrow. While his identity must be concealed, his ability as a first-year star will be recognized by tomorrow's game has progressed very far.

Number, it will be the last game of the season!

CAMP ELEVEN PLAY.

BIG SIX-DAY BIKE STARS ARRIVE FOR LONG GRIND DEC. 5

New York, Nov. 27.—Eighteen European cycling stars, including Oscar Egg of Switzerland, Orlando Piloni of Italy, Bob Spears and six Belgians, arrived here today aboard the steamship Rochambeau.

IN mother's day the gowns they wore were quite the proper style; Their hoop-skirts dragged upon the floor.

For just about a mile, You couldn't see an ankle then, Much less a shapely calf; To see such styles today the men Would hold their sides and laugh. But mother wore her clothes—Aw, good! Ask dad; he knows! The men who spied were satisfied, And that's the way it goes.

WE wonder what the styles will be A generation hence; We wonder what the wiles will be For 'tis observing gents. But it's a dash that we will get No chance for us to lose, For them the stylish etiquette May be confined to shoes. And even they'll be low Which only goes to show That every gent will be content With little here below.
